Bible Comment

AFTERMATH OF CHRISTMAS
By WILLIAM E. GILROY, C.D.
The aftermath of Christmas, think, should be concentration upon the life, ministry, and mission of Jesus.

It is natural that at Christmas attention should be chiefly on the Christmas stories of Jesus' birth. If one thought of them merely as legends, there is nothing in all legendary literature richer and more beautiful.

And, apart from Christian faith, there is nothing richer or more beautiful in stories of motherhood and infancy.

But it should never be forgotten that if it had not been for the man Christ Jesus, the Jesus of the Gospels, in His life, ministry and mission, and the disciples He gathered around Him, we should never have had the stories of His birth.

So, the most important fact of Christmas is the Man who was born.

If this were recognized and more emphasis were placed upon the whole life of Jesus, His teaching, and example, His gospel message of salvation and redemption, the stories of His birth would be enriched, and the observance of Christmas would be saved from the commercialism and downright paganism with which so much of the celebration is surrounded.

So it is my hope that all who have celebrated Christmas will go on to celebrate and know the life proceeding from the pages of Matthew and Luke to the full Gospel story.

What will they find as the Jesus of Bethlehem becomes the Jesus of Nazareth? They will find.

Two Women Are Amnesia Victims

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Two women, described by authorities as apparent victims of amnesia, were found in the Little Rock area last night.

One, a dark-haired girl in her late teens, said she crawled out of the Arkansas River but could remember nothing before that. She went to the home of Mrs. James R. Gates and officers were notified.

The other woman, aged 63 to 70, was found wandering on the old Hot Springs highway. Sheriff's deputies who found her said she gave the name of Mary Davis but also gave other names.

Police took the girl to a hospital but no ailments could be detected. The older woman was a coat with the name "Gene Franklin" pinned to it.

Rate Bureau Studies
a New Policy

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Rating and Inspection Bureau says a new type of house and household contents fire insurance policy at lower premium rates has been advanced to the state insurance commissioner for approval.

Bureau Director Walter W. Plageman said yesterday he could not release details of the policy. Commissioner Harvey G. Combs declined to comment.

The rating bureau represents almost 280 fire insurance companies in the state. They insure about 95 per cent of the commercial and residential structures. Therefore any rate change sponsored by the bureau would have almost general application.

The companies are limited to a five per cent underwriting profit on insurance.

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Iranian authorities today dispatched air and army reinforcements to the Abadan region and placed all armed forces on full alert. They said they acted against a possible Iraqi attack.
A squadron of jet planes was sent to Dezful Airbase in Kuzistan province, in which Abadan is located. Abadan is the site of Iran's prime economic asset—the sprawling national owned petroleum refineries.
TOKYO (AP)—President Eisenhower, already dated up for two trips abroad next year, may get an invitation from Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi soon to work in a visit to Japan.
Cabinet secretary Etsusaburo Shima told newsmen on Tuesday night Kishi may extend the invitation when he goes to Washington next month to sign a revised U.S.-Japan military agreement.
CATANIA, Sicily (AP)—Strong earth tremors shook Sicily today, shattering windows and causing thousands of city residents to flee into the streets.
There were no immediate reports of injuries or major damage, though building corners were toppled into the streets in Catania, Palermo, Agrigento, Racusa, Mesima and Enna felt the shock.

South Stars Look Mainly to Defense

By WHITNEY MARTIN

Associated Press Sports Writer

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The South all-star team will stack its defense to stop Army's lone end, Bill Carpenter, in the 12th annual Shrine game against the North in the Orange Bowl tonight, but coach Wade Walker isn't sure the tactic will be successful. "Particularly with Joe Caldwell, also of Army, throwing the ball," says the Mississippi State strategist. "Ace Parker, the Duke backfield coach, said this guy Caldwell is the best he's seen."

To add to Walker's concern, Army coach Dale Hall, in charge of the North squad, remarked that Caldwell had started 18 games for the Cadets and had only one bad day—this year against Navy.

Despite Walker's concern, however, the South is a two-point favorite over the heavier North squad. It is figured in some quarters the Dixie athletes have more all-around speed, and will be able to make yardage on the ground if their own classy passers fail to click.

In addition to Caldwell, the north has an excellent tosser in Pete Hall of Marquette, but the South has three men who can throw the ball expertly. Fran

Kindergarten Teacher Turns to Acting

AP TV Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Margaret Hamilton is a kindergarten teacher turned actress whose name comes to mind instantly when producers are casting a witch or female Scrooge part.

The witch business started years ago when Miss Hamilton won the wicked witch's part in "The Wizard of Oz." Since then she has ridden many a broomstick, been the stern mistress of the orphanage and otherwise shown herself to be a rather unpleasant character.

Miss Hamilton's public, however, doesn't hold it against her because she invariably plays these unsavory creatures with a twinkle of humor.

Miss Hamilton's acting career has included many non-witch parts. She is, for instance, the voice of Emily Tip in a popular cartoon commercial. She has played serious and comedy roles of many dimensions in such Broadway plays and films as "The Dark Tower," and "The Farmer Takes a Wife." On Thursday night she will be playing a gay and slightly tipsy inmate of a county home on Playhouse 90's adaptation of "The Silver Whistle"—CBS 8-30-11 p. m. Eastern standard time.

For some time now, Miss Hamilton also has played a role in the CBS radio series, "The Couple southpaw who will start at quarterback, shattered every passing record of his school, Jack Cummings of North Carolina, and Joe Tranchini of Navy also can throw the ball with anybody.

Curci of Miami, a diminutive

The teams have had only five days of workouts, but have shown a surprising smoothness in running through their formations. The seniors have the know-how, and as Walker remarked, most of his players have worked his formations in one form or another.

The game will be played under pro rules, which will help both squads materially.

The game is expected to draw 25,000. The kickoff is set for 8:15 p. m. (EST).

OOTHE HOSTAGE

BY CHARLES HENRY

CHAPTER XXIII

Otis' present uneasiness was twofold. There were not only the cops to worry about but the tense-looking young man who twice now had exhibited a disconcerting interest in him. It was for this reason that in the moment when the young man had turned his gaze away, Otis had hastily retreated from his place on the corner to his present location inside the doorway.

Recounting his recent sins, all of which were almost as negligible as the profit they had yielded, Otis could think of nothing to cause either the police or this young man to turn their attention in his direction. Still, the young man had seemed familiar. Otis narrowed his eyes in an effort to think where he might have seen him before. The more he thought about it, however, the more it eluded him. Finally, giving up, he turned his mind to the more immediate problem of getting, unobserved, to the White Dot.

Edging forward for a cautious look along the street, Otis heard approaching footsteps and instantly drew back again. Seeking the shadows beside the boarded-up doorway, he quickly put on his hat and yanked the brim down over his eyes. The footsteps came closer.

"Excuse me," a voice said.

At the first sight of the young man standing there looking in at him, Otis panicked. Thinking only of the safety that awaited him

Next Door."

Miss Hamilton is a native of Cleveland, is very nice looking when not playing a plain-Jane part and has a son who is a senior at Princeton.

Two of the brightest moments of the weekend's viewing were Gertrude Berg's account—on the Ed Sullivan Show—of her father's substitution of a "Chanukah bush" for a Christmas tree, and the enduring performance of small Ronnie Howard as Barnaby in "Mr. O'Malley."

All three major networks are going in for more public affairs programs and quasi-educational shows. NBC has one called "Wide World '60," which will replace "Five Fingers" on Jan. 23; CBS has a Sunday morning series, "FYI," spotlighting topical issues and recurring problems, and ABC will do a series based on Winston Churchill's memoirs starting next fall.

across the street, he lunged blindly forward, shoved the startled young man aside, and bolted on across the sidewalk. Taking a path between two parked cars, he darted out into the street.

Running, the world before him a gray blur, Otis heard the young man shout suddenly behind him, intent upon achieving the safety of the opposite sidewalk, he was unmindful that the voice carried a note of frightened warning. "Too late, as the shout sounded again, rising to become a part of the nearer, shriller sound of a blaring horn. Otis looked around to see the car bearing down upon him.

Otis' gaze, widening with horror, retreated from the full meaning of this one rushing calamity and centered itself foolishly on a bright glint of light reflected from the rounded surface of one of the headlights. As if mesmerized, he stopped and stood stark still. In the next instant, the sound of screeching brakes wild in his ears, the brightness at which he stared seemed to slab forward in his head and explode in a blinding whiteness.

As Bill stood frozen on the curb, a movement in the gutter below pulled his gaze down to the battered brown hat as it came to rest there, its brim angled up against the pavement. For a moment the street was still around him and then, from establishments he had thought long deserted, there poured forth onto the sidewalks geriatric of all sizes and descriptions. The driver of the car, a pale, frightened man in a cheap brown suit, scrambled quickly out to the pavement and stood looking down at Otis' still, crumpled figure with open-mouthed horror.

Footsteps sounded swiftly behind him, and he turned to see Sergeant Mercer and his companion hurrying toward him.

The sergeant looked out into the street, "Get back to the car," he said briskly to his companion. "Call an ambulance."

"I don't know what happened," Bill said dazedly. "I saw him—he looked like he recognized me—He ran—"

The sergeant cast him a swift glance and then, with a frown, left him to go out into the street where he knelt down beside the sprawled figure.

"Anybody know this man?" The query was answered by a profound silence. Shrugging, the sergeant turned back to the crumpled man and started a systematic search of his pockets. Reaching into the right-hand pocket of the shabby overcoat, he felt something and pulled it out. Looking down for a moment, he turned around to Bill and held it out to him. Bill took a faltering step forward.

"Is he dead?" he asked.

Bill was on his feet the instant the door of the examination room opened. The doctor, a gaunt, red-haired man in his middle forties, glanced only briefly in his direction, then turned to Sergeant Mercer, who had already started toward him from the end of the hall. Bill moved forward, too, but the sergeant motioned to him to stay where he was.

Bill watched as the two men moved off farther down the hall and stopped to talk. After what seemed an eternity, the sergeant nodded in final understanding and turning away, came back in Bill's direction. As he approached he shook his head. "You might as well know," he said, "it doesn't look good."

Bill shook his head in numb disbelief. "But we've got to talk to him! Does the doctor understand—?"

The sergeant nodded. "He knows the whole story," "But what about Davey? Sergeant, that man in there is the one—"

"Now, hold on. The doctor promised me he'd try to give us a break on this. If Lovelace comes out of shock—if he hangs on to that point—we'll get a chance to talk to him, at least for a minute or two. And he's doing that against his better judgment."

Gilda Gray of Shimmy Fame Dies

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Gilda Gray, the shimmy dancer of the 1920s who gave America more shakes than bootleg whiskey, is dead.

She died of an apparent heart attack Tuesday while visiting a friend. The petite blonde always had been in poor health. Estimates ranged from 58 to 68.

Her death closed another chapter of the dizzy decade which claimed F. Scott Fitzgerald, Jack near beer and rascals coasts. She was a top star in the golden era of vaudeville which produced Al Jolson, Will Rogers, Gallagher and Sheen, and Sophie Tucker.

Years later she said of her fabulous heyday: "They might run more today, honey, but we had more fun."

The girl with the wiggly hips, who thrilled tired businessmen with a wicked Charleston atop a shaky table, faded into obscurity with the depression. She reportedly made millions but was living in a furnished room at the end.

Championship Pro Game Set for Sunday p. m.

By GEORGE BOWEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Colts feel they will have proved a point in vain if they don't beat the New York Giants Sunday for the championship of the National Football League. The game will be at Memorial Stadium here and will be televised in 44 states (NBC, 2:05 p. m., EST).

"Victory against the New York Giants is important, not only financially to all of us, but also for our self-respect," said Colts' safetyman Carl Taseff.

"The battle has been all uphill. If the Giants knock us back, then much of what we have worked so hard to attain will go up in smoke."

The Colts, winner of last year's game 23-17 overtime classic in New York, have had the advantage of practicing all week on the field. "The ground is in good shape. Both the Giants and Colts have two weeks off to prepare for the championship contest and it provided time for injuries to such as fullback Alan Ameche of the Colts and halfback Alex Webster of the Giants to heal."

Last year, the Giants had to go through a bruising playoff game with the Cleveland Browns the week before colliding with the Colts.

Coach Jim Lee Howell of the Giants has said this will make a lot of difference this time. In fact, he and several of the players have simply brimmed over with confident comments.

The Colts' attitude has been more of determination as expressed by Taseff. "We are a dedicated football team."

The gamblers have chosen to stick with the Colts by making them 3½ point favorites.

roll out of water and off down the road is one of the innovations for boating in 1960.

Trailer boatmen are the new nomads. Packing the family into the car, picnic and camping gear into the boat, behind, away they go along every highway that leads to the water.

And this time of year, many northerners' heads south for a warm weather vacation arrive with an outboard, small inboard or sailboat behind the car, ready for fishing or cruising.

Now a Dallas boat company has dispensed with the trailer.

Its new fiberglass runabout can mount one or two outboard motors and is available in 16, 17 or 19 foot lengths. In the water it appears to be a conventional boat, but as it nears shore small traps open under water on each side of the hull and trailer-type wheels are lowered hydraulically.

Once the craft is beached, a tow rod is hoisted to the mooring ring in the stern and two brace rods fasten to port and starboard of the bow to form a yoke. These are clamped to the customary trailer hitch on the back of the car and the craft rides up the ramp on its own wheels and out onto the road.

Launching is equally simple. The amphibian is backed down into the water, though a more experienced trailer boatman may have an extra trailer hitch on the front bumper of his car so that he can see clearly when easing his boat into the water.

Then the tow rod is detached, the outboard motor tilted into the water, the wheels are retracted, and the boat is ready for cruising.

While houseboats are not normally used for distance cruising, a runabout that can be hauled without a trailer many miles from home port should offer special advantages.

With it, a family could follow a river to its navigable headwaters, rent a car locally and tow the boat to new cruising waters, then relaunch the boat and continue without car or trailer to worry about.

Boating continues to be fun because of unlimited lakes, rivers and shores to explore, and many of the new inventions for the sport have been developed to allow the boatman broader horizons.

No longer is elaborate equipment and a big boat necessary. Now the runabout owner, whose backyard is his boyard, can also cruise America's waterways with his built-in trailer.

Man With Knife Holds Up Store
IORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A young man armed with a hunting knife held up a woman clerk in a liquor store last night and escaped with about $100, police reported.

Miss Edna Fincher, the clerk, said she was plucky nervous. So was the young man with the knife, she told officers.

She was alone in the store when he slipped up behind her and put the knife on her.

She tried to open the drawer of the cash register and made her do it when he failed.

Miss Fincher said the robber began scooping up bills with a trembling hand. Then he changed his mind and told her to get the money for him. He scorned the silver.

Still holding the knife at her back, he marched Miss Fincher around the store and made her wipe off any possible fingerprints. Before leaving, he scrubbed at a few spots himself.

"Notice you don't see any basketball players hanging around street corners!"

"Did you get yours for Christmas, too?"

HAPPY NEW YEAR

... it is midnight, and the toll of the bells announce a brand New Year. It is time to begin again. God hands us 365 clean, new days and as we accept his proffer we must make valid resolutions to discharge all the responsibilities that automatically come with them. Our world is confused.
Seeds of destruction are planted everywhere. It is not a time for indecision. May we resolve, right now, to get a clearer view of destiny ... to understand more of the meaning and purpose of life. May we have more time for God, and somehow, may He make us realize, He is in front of all our tomorrows.
Happy New Year!
